City of Union Mayor Larry Solomon Helps in Election Cookie Vote

Union, KY, Nov. 8- City of Union Mayor Larry K. Solomon helped Ms. Marci Thompson's class at Littlest Angels Learning Center in Union, participate in Election 2016 by choosing the best cookie.

This is a tradition dating back several years with the City of Union, where past mayors have helped children at the center understand the voting process by participating in a kid vote event.

This year's candidates included chocolate chip, snickerdoodle and oatmeal. The candidate field samples were provided by mothers of children at the center.

Children were given a sample of each cookie and then the Mayor helped lead them in a vote and tabulated the results with assistance from city staff.

We can report that Chocolate Chip was a winner of the vote in a landslide, although the results must still be certified.
